Steve Resch Presents

Manage Post-Retirement Risk with Housing Wealth

Join Wealth Manager and Vice President of Retirement Strategies Division, Steve Resch as he discusses how he uses Reverse Mortgages to safeguard and enhance his client's retirement plans.

We will examine the costs and misconceptions about the program, review case studies of managing post-retirement risks including poor sequence of returns, excessive asset distribution rates, long-term care expenditures, and much more.

This class is eligible for 1 CFP CE credit.

The lender may charge an origination fee, mortgage insurance premium, closing costs and servicing fees (added to the balance of the loan). The balance of the loan grows over time and the lender charges interest on the balance. Borrowers are responsible for paying property taxes, homeowner's insurance, maintenance, and related taxes (which may be substantial). We do not establish an escrow account for disbursements of these payments. A set-aside account can be set up to pay taxes and insurance and may be required in some cases. Borrowers must occupy home as their primary residence and pay for ongoing maintenance; otherwise the loan becomes due and payable. The loan also becomes due and payable (and the property may be subject to a tax lien, other encumbrance, or foreclosure) when the last borrower, or eligible non-borrowing surviving spouse, dies, sells the home, permanently moves out, defaults on taxes, insurance payments, or maintenance, or does not otherwise comply with the loan terms. Interest is not tax-deductible until the loan is partially or fully repaid.
